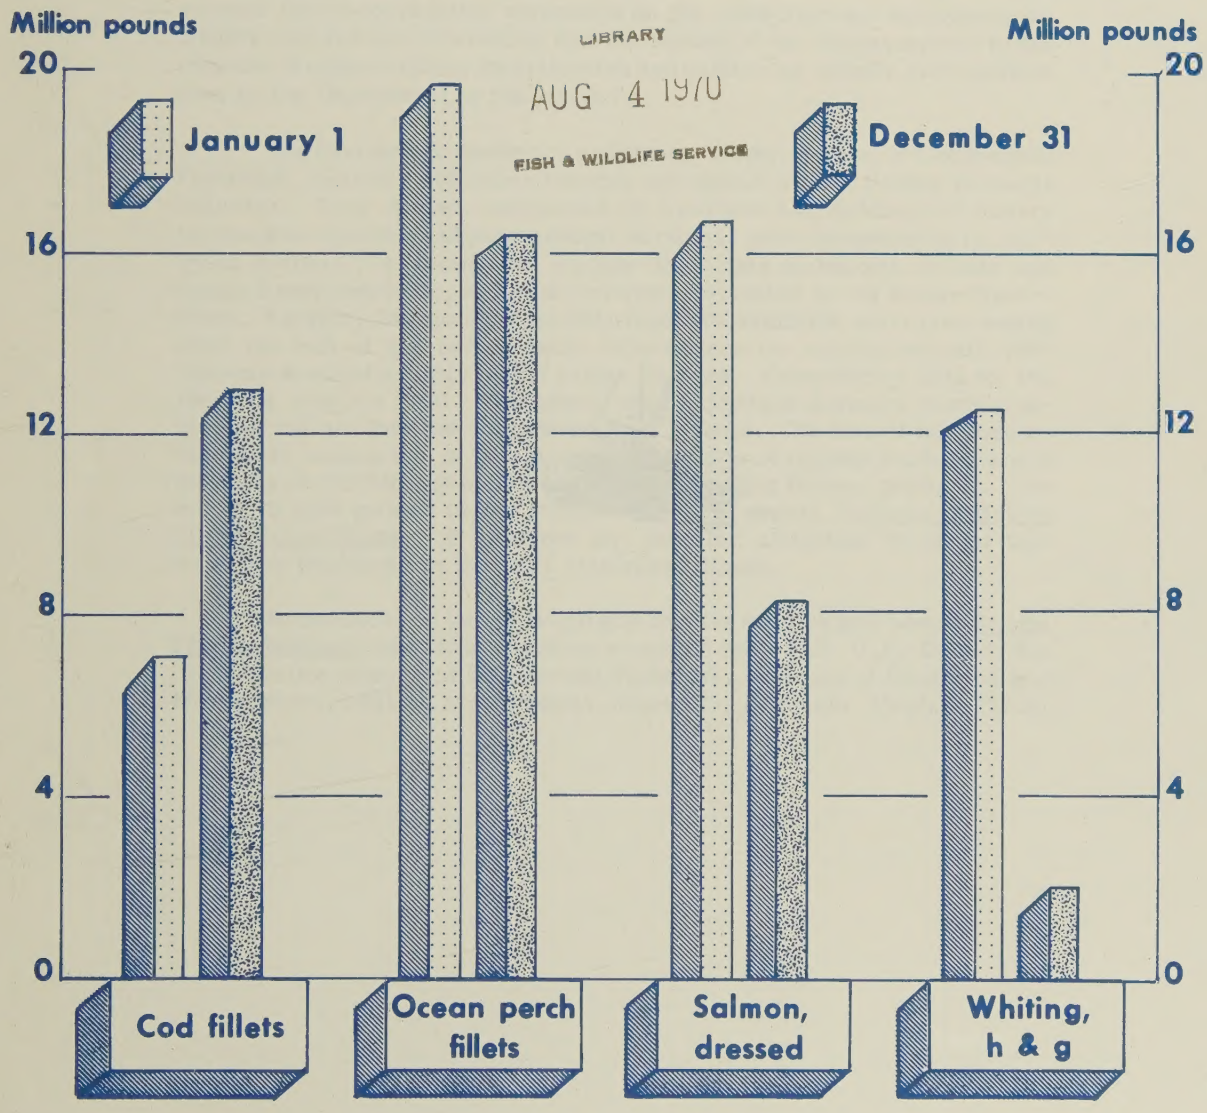
FISH & WILDLIFE SERVICE



As the Nation's principal conservation agency, the Department of the Interior has basic responsibilities for water, fish, wildlife, mineral, land, park, and recreational resources. Indian and Territorial affairs are other major concerns of America's "Department of Natural Resources."

The Department works to assure the wisest choice in managing all our resources so each will make its full contribution to a better United States -- now and in the future.

INTRODUCTION

The U.S. fishing industry and Government need statistical data on the frozen fishery trade. The statistics provide a measure of the industry, insure orderly production and marketing of frozen seafood commodities, and supply government with information to determine conditions within the trade necessary in protecting and developing industry. Few industries depend more fully on refrigeration than the domestic fish industry.

For many years, the only Federal data available on U.S. freezings and cold storage holdings of fish and shellfish were those collected by the Department of Agriculture. That agency began assembling and publishing cold storage holdings of fishery products in 1917. The former Bureau of Fisheries began publication of the data in 1922 but the Department of Agriculture continued to collect and tabulate the information until 1945. In that year, the Department of the Interior and the Department of Agriculture entered into a cooperative agreement on the collection and publication of fishery cold storage information and the Bureau of the Budget agreed to the transfer of responsibility for collecting and publishing fishery cold storage data to the Department of the Interior.

The Division of Statistics and Market News, Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, currently publishes monthly and annual frozen fishery products bulletins. They contain summaries of freezings and holdings of fishery products by species and geographical sections, with comparisons for previous periods, Canadian cold storage data, data on imports of fresh and frozen fishery products, and other information related to the frozen fishery trade. A preliminary summary monthly report is available within two weeks after the end of the period being reported and the revised but still preliminary detailed monthly report within 30 days. Comparative data for the previous year are final. The annual reports include possible monthly revisions and all data are considered final figures. The annual report gives historical summaries of freezings and holdings of fishery products and a directory of cold storage plants engaged in handling fishery products. The report is also printed in the annual statistical digest, Fishery Statistics of the United States. A complete and detailed historical review of this trade was published in the 1967 statistical digest.

To be placed on the mailing list to receive monthly and annual Frozen Fishery Products bulletins, a request should be mailed to: U.S. Department of the Interior, Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, Division of Statistics and Market News, 1801 N. Moore Street, Room 505, Arlington, Virginia 22209.
